DRAFT UN-CONSTITUTIONAL?

Test of Legality By Two Young Idaho Men

Brief Introduced In Congressional Record By Senator Wheeler

The Boise Valley Herald, Middleton, Idaho, presented the following editorial to its readers:

LET'S NOT TRADE DEMOCRACY FOR FASCISM

Peacetime Military Draft Unconstitutional

Fellow Citizen:

Have you read the Brief prepared by the Lawyer's Committee to Keep the United States Out of War? That Brief was introduced into the Congressional Record by Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, with the statement that he and other lawyers had examined the said Brief and believed it to be a "real contribution on the constitutionality of the bill". Send to Senator Wheeler for a copy.

In view of the fact that the act of registering constitutes a formal or written consent that the draftee puts his case in the hands of the draft boards, two young Idaho men: Clark M. Cornell, age 30, and Boyd B. Cornell, age 24, have decided to appear before their registration board and state to the board that they are standing upon their Constitutional Rights and are refusing to take the only step in the entire process over which they can exercise a volition which the Constitution of the United States supports them in exercising, namely, that of signing the registration card, a step by which they grant the right to Congress to exercise a power over their liberties, not granted to it by the Constitution.

Measured by the commonly accepted standards for being excused from the application of the law, the Cornell brothers could hope for favorable consideration. Also, in taking this stand, these young men are not unmindful of the onerous penalty that threatens them in thus defying the law that has been duly passed. They are well aware that the Supreme Court is reputed to be inclined to compromise the Constitution in favor of the so-called New Deal. But they are also aware of the certainty that no Constitution can protect the liberties of the people unless the people put their reliance therein enough to go to whatever trouble is necessary to get the thing at issue adjudicated.

The above constitutes the beginning of what might and should spread into a test-the-law organization of all the way up to hundreds of like-minded young men in different parts of the nation.

It is entirely probable that those who are responsible for the law know that its Constitutionality is extremely doubtful, but that they feel quite secure in the thought that very few men will risk the penalty of defying it. Unless the Cornell brothers are joined by quite a number of others to help in meeting the cost of carrying the case up, they will probably have to take the penalty that is a part of the law. If they are joined by others, the more the better, they can do team work in acting jointly as defendants in meeting the cost incident to contesting the law, which, in our opinion, is unconstitutional in at least two points, namely, peace-time conscription, and in the omission of a guarantee against enforced service outside the borders of the United States.

This letter is being sent to various parts of the nation in the hope that those to whom it is being sent will be able to bring it to the attention of some of their young friends who are like-minded with the Cornell brothers as to the determination to take, if needs be, the punishment of the law's penalties as their part of the struggle for the preservation of CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT. They regard it to be their civic duty to decline to co-operate in the observance of a law that, once the first step is taken, regiments its victims to carry out the orders of the War Department of the nation by the suspension of every Constitutional Guarantee.

Editor's Note:— The Boise Valley Herald might be right about unconstitutionality, I have not read the "Brief", but my reading of the U. S. Constitution gave me the impression that it gave power to congress to raise an army—it does not specify how, nor whether in peace time or war.

CIO PICKETS ASSAULT de ARYAN

Warrants for Arrest Sworn to by Editor

Last Thursday at five o'clock our editor was picketing the pickets again at 2603 University ave. in front of the Century Upholstery shop. He carried a sign reading: "Nevermind these Hoodlums" on one side and on the the other: "CIO Racket".

The place is being picketed because the management refuses to sign a closed shop contract with the CIO union. A dozen pickets were parading up and down the sidewalk and one of them, Louis Farrell, objected to de Aryan's sign, saying that he was no hoodlum and then proceeded to act the hoodlum. He blocked de Aryan's path, shoved him off the sidewalk, clipped him one in the left ear and proceeded to tear up the sign. When the police was called Farrell ran away with de Aryan after him taking the license number of his car, 6 Z 5395.

After repairing his sign de Aryan again took his place in the picket queue while being heckled and harrassed by several of the other pickets who were attempting to push him out again but wary of being arrested. At 5:45 finally one young fellow worked up enough nerve to step on de Aryan's feet from behind and then tear his sign. The whole gang immediately ran away.

On Friday morning de Aryan swore out warrants for the arrest of the two young fellows. Both were taken to jail and bail was fixed. They are coming up for pleadings on Monday (today) in Judge Terry's police court. The other picket's name is Clifford Hirt, 304 Milbrae.

Mrs. Lorene Field, wife of one of the partners of Century Upholstering Co., has decided to also swear out a warrant for Louis Farrel on an assault charge. She was watering the lawn one morning in front of the shop when Farrel grabbed her by the hand and tusseled with her getting her all wet, in the process he got all soaked thru and thru.

Farrel used to work at the shop and all the fight is over him with the union. He was the only employee. Farrel is now employed at the Golden State Upholstering Co. so that he has no right whatever to bother his former employers.

PHIL DOUGHTY TRIAL CONTINUES

Attorneys for Ideal Homes Building Service, contractors and builders, owned and managed by Phil Doughty, 3823 El Cajon blvd., are still in court arguing before Judge Chas. C. Haines for an injunction to restrain the AFL union from preventing lumber deliveries to the contractor. The union has declared an embargo against Doughty so that no lumberyard is permitted to deliver lumber to him. Judge Haines' verdict is expected some time this week.

"RELATIVE" U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Communist Albert Einstein Now "Good" American Citizen

How come, we marveled with exceeding marvel,—being stung to the quick, naturally, not unlike many another good but simple-minded goy citizen—when reading how a certain Federal Judge (appointed for life, subject to "good" behavior only) so far forgot his oath of office and the very Constitution he swore to uphold—not to "hold up"!—as to permit himself to become blinded by race-prejudice and perhaps a certain pressure exerted by heavy advertising in a Jew-controlled Press, that he admitted, with all possible "pomp and circumstance" of which a judicial calendar be capable, into the coveted realm of U. S. citizenship none other than a most notorious and self professed Communist of the first water: to wit, one Professor Albert Einstein, who some years ago fled from Grmany for the simple reason that the native soil was getting too hot under his Communistic flat feet.

Can it be that this Jewish Federal Judge is a fellow-traveler at a time when for years past and even now, hundreds of thousands of the people's money is being spent by a vigorous Congressional Investigating Committee (Dies), hell-bent on ferreting out all manner of subversive activities throughout the land?

TELLING THE TRUTH BECOMES A CRIME

What the Talmud Teaches Must Not Be Revealed

There is a group of radical actionists who are preaching that Gentiles must take repressive steps against the menace which arises when Jews continue to increase their control over the political and economic life of the nation by placing their kind in key positions, entirely out of proportion to their numerical population, or their productive contributions in agriculture and industry.

Ever since the boycott of Germany started in this country under Samuel Untermyer, I have pointed to the dangers and the backfire of that boycott, because it enabled a few Jews who control commercial avenues to impose their will upon Gentile Americans who have no desire whatever to enter a commerical war which inevitably leads this nation into armed conflict with the German people. As a result I became an object of the boycott itself. Fortunately I am a man who does not live within a limited horizon. My vision reaches eons behind in time

THE NEW CITY MANAGER

Now that Walter Cooper has so suddenly been appointed new city manager to the surprise of Fred Rhodes who was absent from the city while the change was decided upon, naturally people want to know what there is behind it all. At city hall they tell you, if you know the right people to talk to, that Mayor Benbough did not like the way Rhodes was running the police department. So Benbough was willing to let Rhodes draw $7,500 a year, in place of the $5,000 he was getting as head of the works dept., just so Benbough's ideas about running the police department could be worked out by a new manager. Cooper will soon find out who the real boss of the police department is. It's a nice way of getting around the city charter and spending the people's money in more salaries. But even at that Cooper might make a good manager.

$600,000 Steal Upset

Fletcher's Delusions of Grandeur

By Karl Moore

When a man first offers himself for a responsible public office it is customary for him to offer some sort of a past record. Candidates are usually men of probity, honesty, and good faith. Occasionally, though, one comes up whose record, if revealed, would portray him as a despisable character, not to be trusted in any way.

Such a man I believe Ed Fletcher to be. I believe that he has bilked the city time and again. I believe that he has bilked the County of San Diego. Not the sort of honest graft that comes by having public roads put through his property, for he was able to take care of that sort of thing with his Mattoon Act District.

It was not the sort of absconding with public funds less able men are sent to the penitentiary for, for Ed Fletcher has always had the most astute attorneys plot his courses. If he has ever made restitution for any of his legally honest but morally reprehensible deals, I have yet to hear of it.

Among the many amazing transactions by which this old man has cost the taxpayers tens of thousands of dollars, and perhaps millions, we will mention a few here and one in particular. For Ed Fletcher does not care and has never cared if the taxpeyers lose a hundred thousand dollars if the deal will net him a couple of hundred. That attitude toward the public weal is what makes him a menace. From being the butt of the State Senate he seeks to graduate to a high National Office where his propensities will have almost no limit.

Land Buyers Syndicate

There was the California Land Buyers Syndicate, which had the public endorsement of Ed Fletcher. It ended in bankruptcy for the company, prison for some of its promoters and immense unsatisfied judgments against Ed Jr.—Right here, let me say that Ed Jr. is and has been for years the front for Ed Fletcher. The old man just trots around and does the come-on act for their mutual family owned companies

BUILD SAN VINCENTE DAM

C. Leon de Aryan, Wed., 8:15 pm, Oct. 9, KGB

At the general election on Nov. 5th, there will be two water propositions of the city of San Diego on the ballot. It will take two thirds majorities of the votes cast to carry them because they represent two bond issues for future water development. One for the building of a dam at San Vincente, the other for expansion and improvement of existing water distribution facilities within the city. I am favoring both propositions as timely and necessary. While I know the reasons why, there are many who do not know. Even Mrs. de Aryan started to ask questions about it. For your benefit, as well as hers, I invited our City Hydraulic Engineer, Mr. Fred Pyle, to appear on this program next Wednesday night at 8:15 and answer the questions which Mrs. de Aryan wants explained on the subject. You may inform your friends and neighbors about this opportunity for next Wednesday's program at 8:15.

FREDDY AT THE FRISCO FAIR

Tonight our younger son Frederick, who took a quick trip to the Exposition at San Francisco during school vacation time this summer, is going to give us a short account of his experiences on that trip. Go ahead Freddy.

FRED—A friend of our family, who drives one of those big trucks between here and Oakland, had promised me that he would take me with him on one of those trips this summer, so that I could see the San Francisco Fair. So on Saturday, Sept. 7th, the lucky day arrived and he and I left San Diego in the afternoon.

It seemed funny to me to be perched up in that cab of the truck, but I sure enjoyed it, watching Mr. Drane operate this truck which has 16 speeds forward and 4 backwards. We traveled on an average of 45 miles an hour and arrived in Oakland Sunday afternoon. I had been catching a little sleep along the way.

We were pretty tired when we arrived in Oakland, so we washed up and then I sat down and watched the men unload the trucks. At six o'clock in the evening a couple of the other truck drivers and I left for the Fair, arriving at the grounds at 7:15. I wished that we had been on the San Francisco side so that we could have gone over to the island by ferry. The bay bridge is about 7 or 8 miles long, and the cables are 27 inches in diameter. Each strand is about three-fourths of an inch in diameter. The bridge was built for an allowance of 15 feet for expanding and contracting.

I paid a dime to get into the Fair. Then the truck drivers and I broke up and I went to the Midway. The thing I liked best in the Midway was the giant crane. It takes you up in sort of an elevator affair, you stay there for about a minute, 250 feet above the fairgrounds, and then come down.

Then I went looking at the exhibits. I went looking mostly for airplanes, because that's what I am interested in. They had a few model airplanes and engines. They also had a Pratt-Whitney engine, (that's a real airplane motor). A Cub Coupe, and an airplane that looked like Wright's, these constituted the real airplanes.

I saw the exhibit of General Motors and Ford, the Buick and Oldsmobile I think being the best looking. Then they had everything else that goes with a State Fair, also exhibits of all the countries in the world, all sorts of modern conveniences, boats, airplanes, etc.—But I had to leave before ten, so by the time I reached those exhibits I had to go.

Free Press Editors

The next morning I ate breakfast at a small cafe in Oakland. The proprietor asked me where I was from, my age, and what my father did. He said he was from Austria and he talked broken English. I told him my father printed a newspaper that told the truth about everything, no matter what it was.

"Oh," he said, "lika da man Riley here in Oakland. Dey tar and fedder him wunz when he started telling about some rackets here in Oakland, but dot didn't stop him, he still prints da trute."

I had told him previously that some longshoremen had beaten up my dad once and thrown him in the bay. That's why he told me about Riley.

We started home on Monday about 2 P. M., and got to San Diego at 1 P. M. Tuesday. On Monday night while I was sleping on the truck, Mr. Drane shook me and woke me up, and told me to stay awake because we were going down that steep grade 40 miles north of Salinas. I was so sleepy I didn't understand him, and I went back to sleep. He woke me up again and this time he made sure I heard him and he kept me awake. He told me that if something went wrong with the brakes, we would have to jump for it and let the truck go. When I heard about that I sure stayed awake.

Mr. Drane has two boys, Tommy and Dickey. Each one of them has made that trip to Oakland with him on the truck. He said that when he had Tom with him, he woke him up and Tom stayed awake, but Dickey, the younger, when he heard that if anything happened to the brakes, they'd have to jump, Dick just said: "Well, then, let 'er go", and went back to sleep.

DAD—Well, Freddy, someday you will go again to Oakland and across the bay to San Francisco and take your trip on the ferry. I worked a whole year before the 1915 Fair opened in San Francisco and also all through the year of the Fair as a guide. But I like San Diego much better, that is why I settled here.

FRED—Do you know Mr. Riley who edits the Oakland Free Press?

A. R. Sauer Stopped Fletcher's Steal

DAD—No, I never met him personally, but from information gathered from his paper he is a Socialist and his ideas and mine on government are diametrically opposed. But he has the courage of his convictions like the late Abraham R. Sauer here in San Diego when he conducted THE HERALD and was fighting Ed Fletcher who attempted to collect $600,000 for water rights on the San Diego River, when Ed Fletcher had no water rights to sell, because the city owns all the water rights.

FRED—Then why did Mr. Fletcher try to collect $600,000 from the city?

DAD—That is what is known as the real estate game of catching suckers. Old man Sauer showed him up and fought him to the last ditch. Fletcher did cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars in unnecessary litigation up to the United States Supreme court over those fake water rights which Fletcher tried to sell us and the Supreme Court ruled that Fletcher had no rights whatever to sell on the river.

FRED—Is that the same Ed Fletcher who is now running for congressman?

DAD—Yes, that's the guy. He tried to put old man Sauer in jail a number of times for exposing Fletcher's scheme of collecting for something he did not own and nobody else owned, but the city alone owned. But even though one of the superior court judges at that time also tried to put Sauer in jail, the old man licked them both and the truth prevailed.

FRED—Are you going to vote for Fletcher for congress after you know about this?

DAD—Not I. While I have no brief for Izac, the incumbent, I certainly am not going to vote for a man who tried to put old man Sauer in jail on libel charges because Sauer was exposing Fletcher's scheme of attempting to collect for water rights which already belonged to the city. It is our duty to stand up for the Fredom of the Press and bring out the truth about people who are trying to rob the taxpayers.

FRED—But is Mr. Fletcher not a Republican and Izac a Democrat?

Vote for Candidate, Not Party

DAD—Fletcher is no more a Republican than Izac is a Democrat. Fletcher ran as a Republican and a Democrat and Izac was a Republican too, when it suited him better. Party lines mean nothing anymore. Today one must vote for the candidate, not for a party. That is why many Democrats are going to vote for Wendell Willkie. Fletcher dares not declare himself against a third term for Roosevelt.

FRED—But, dad, I read in the papers that Izac voted for the Communists.

DAD—What you read was that Izac voted against a bill in congress which is un-American and unconstitutional and which is being opposed by the San Diego Bar as well as the American Bar Association. Congress attempted to usurp the functions of the judiciary through a bill of attainder to deport Harry Bridges. Bridges should be deported, but not by breaking the constitutional safeguards through a bill of attainder. He should be tried in court and if found guilty of law violation, he should be deported. Izac was right in his vote. It is the same like President Roosevelt making a secret deal with Britain and swapping the 50 destroyers for naval bases in the Atlantic. Wendell Willkie explained why the President was wrong in ignoring the proper procedure of taking that sort of treaty making up with congress first. And what is true about Mr. Willkie's argument that it makes a lot of difference how you go about doing things, is just as true in the Bridges case. Our demagogues are trying to supplant hatred and emotions for intelligence and right. They use the hysteria against Bridges in an attempt at sabotageing the constitution to deport him and set a bad precedent, which can be applied to anybody else too. When the legislature usurps judicial functions it is just as bad as the Wagner Labor Relations Board which usurps judicial and legislative functions.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF DRAFT TO BE TESTED

DAD—The Boise Valley Herald published in Middleton, Idaho announces that two young men: Clark M. Cornell age 30 and Boyd B. Cornell age 24 have decided to make a test case concerning the constitutionality of the draft law. They will appear before their registration board and state to the board that they are standing upon their Constitutional Rights and are refusing to take the only step in the entire process over which they can exercise a volition, which the Constitution of the United States supports them in exercising, namely, that of signing the registration card, a step by which they grant the right to Congress to exercise a power over their liberties, not granted to it by the Constitution.

FRED—I bet President Roosevelt will stop that test case.

DAD—How?

FRED—The way he stopped his two boys from being drafted. He can make Clark a colonel in the marines and Boyd an air corps captain.

At the End of the Eight Years 'Joy Ride'

The Roosevelts Evade Conscription

Elliott's New Job

By John F. Covert

With millions of young men awaiting the day when they will enroll under the draft and with millions of mothers and fathers—patriotic and loyal—showing increased concern for the future destinies of their sons, Americans today are asking: "Why did President Roosevelt use the influence of his office to give two of his sons high Army positions so they could avoid the draft?" And the question is a reasonable one. Roosevelt did it out of love for his sons. But what about that same love which millions of other parents hold for their sons?

The question, therefore, is: "Was the President's action fair and was it consistent with public statements he previously has made?"

Swayed by Emotion

When he was governor of New York, Roosevelt asked: "What of the public official who allows a member of his family to obtain fees or benefits through his political influence?" He voiced himself, at that time, against any such action by a public official. Today, with the world torn by war, he has acted contrary to his public stand. He has been swayed by a personal emotion.

Speaking of Elliott Roosevelt who a few days ago got himself a desk job in the air procurement division and a commission as a captain, automatically freeing himself from the draft, Rep. John C. Schafer of Wisconsin recently said:

"Elliott Roosevelt has become at 30 years of age a purchasing agent for airplane parts procurement. There probably are 50,000 men in the United States with more purchasing experience than young Roosevelt and undoubtedly some of them will be drafted next week, but as buck privates, not captains."

Wife Also Well-to-Do

Schafer said, too, that "Capt. Elliott and his wife both are well-to-do, according to their sworn statements and a list of their property holdings and assets submitted to the federal communications commission."

The congressman pointed out that many of the army regulations governing the filling of commissioned ranks were waived in Eliott's case. These include a requirement that the federal bureau of investigation inquire into the applicant's past history for which, presumably, there was not sufficient time in the 24 hours between the time young Roosevelt asked the high command for the job and when he got it.

"The F. B. I.," Schafer said, "would have found that Elliott's chief recommendation in the procurement field was that shortly after his father recognized Soviet Russia, the young man made an agreement with Anthony Fokker, the airplane designer, to sell to the Soviet government 50 military planes at a price which would have given each of them a commission of $500,000.

Affidavit on File

"Mr. Fokker, in an affidavit filed with the senate committee investigating the munitions industry, admitted that the price asked was excessive but quoted Elliott as saying that by virtue of his name he believed he had enough influence with the Export-Import bank and the Russian purchasing commission to swing the deal."

This deal is mentioned to emphasize that Elliott has sought to use his influence on an occasion before he exerted it to become an army captain.

Meanwhile, a patriotic, loyal, brave American citizenry still asks: "Did the President play fair when he exerted his political influence in behalf of his own sons when that same opportunity is not available to millions of others?"

Shows Favoritism

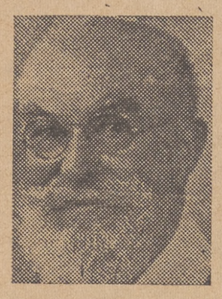
President Roosevelt's action in this case is indisputable evidence that favoritism has a place in his program of things. In his position a President should set an example which would win confidence rather than destroy the faith of a people.

The millions of mothers and fathers whose sons will register for the draft next week love their sons, too!

HEALTH-GERMS

By George Starr White, M. D.

Gall-bladder troubles almost always occur as a result of, and in connection with, liver disorders.



Dr. Geo. Starr White

As in liver troubles, gall-bladder troubles may be traced to errors in living; therefore, the cure or preventive is the same as that for liver troubles—namely correcting of those errors.

Catar of the gall-bladder is the most frequent complaint, and if allowed to progress, it is followed by biliousness; dizziness; headaches; and in many cases the formation of concretions in the gall-bladder, known as gall-stones.

Bile, when it flows normally, helps in the action of the small intestine, and hastens its contents toward the outlet in the large bowel. If, because of catar of the gall-bladder, or of the bile ducts that pass from the liver to the gall-bladder, the bile be changed or lessened, the intestins are slowed up in their work; and a feeling of heaviness and sluggishness creeps over the individual. If, on the other hand, the bile by abnormally increased, an absorption of bile by the blood—biliousness—will result.

When either of these conditions obtain, eat liberally of acid fruits; and keep the bowels well open. Drink plenty of lemon juice and lime juice, mixed with distilled water.

A bilious person will usually have chills; and should be kept well covered. Rest in bed is advisable until the bilious feeling passes of.

Can it be that all this much advertised "investigating" is just so much IMPropaganda? Directed not against the country's arch foe—Communism—but at some little fellows, momentarily out of luck, discredited and quite out of favor with the powers-that-be? Such as that mere handful of 10thousand (save the mark!) of hapless sausage-eating and Pilsener-guzzling Bundsters (who also have a hankering for that heinous pastime of a dance or two under the trees, a strong arm around a hefty waist); or on the other hand those fierce Fascists who know how to make short shrift of their adversaries in the form of platefuls of hot, steaming spaghetti to be washed down with tankards of delectable California dago red? Who also, when their Falstaffian embon-point is seen to get the better of them, do not shrink from doing a little "hayfoot, strawfoot" out in the open; toting, for good measure, some last century's blunderbusses?

Can it also be, after all, that we are finding it "All Quiet" throughout the Western Hemisphere, except for an artificially engendered frenzy in Mah Frens' white house Synagogue, plus Annexes; such as poor derelict Hull, becalmed in the doldrums of his home-made Sargasso Sea, together with that Super-diplomat the Right Honourable Mr. Welles; or those grandiose errand boys of the "powerful" foreign relation committees (question: what's so all-fired "powerful" about these pompous chaps, Pittman of Nevada, or that N. Y. ghetto product, Solomon Blum?)

May be all these Communist comrades are just darling boys, angels in disguise, sadly misjudged. May be their great love for us makes them flood this country and accounts for their ardour to take up American citizenship; meaning, they swear to uphold the Constitution and to defend the USA against all comers!

While we see welcomed with open arms, flags flying, bugles blaring and cameras clicking, such ardent Reds as this Albert Einstein, we have not unfrequently noticed the refusal of citizenship papers to some unclever, unteachable Nazi or Fascist adherent, even unto the cancelation of papers previously granted, because obtained under "fraud"—usually a minor technicality of some sort.

But here, in the notorious Einstein case we have no FRAUD—on the contrary.

According to Federal Judge Phillip Forman, of Trenton, N. J., who welcomed Professor Albert Einstein to American citizenship, the glorious event is to us a

LESSON IN DEMOCRACY

Forsooth or Fiddle-de-dee? Which? How can a man be two opposite things at one and the same time? Even the much renowned "Father of Relativity" can not juggle his figures cleverly enough to make his equation come out correctly.

So far as the scientific aspect is concerned, Relativity is as old as the proverbial hills—Einstein merely rehashed and rehashed badly at that, according to the findings of none other than one of America's most revered astronomers and scientists, namely Professor See of the U. S. Navy, whose rank is that of Captain, which is a very high rank, the next being Admiral. This writer happens to have first hand information about all the phases involved, due to his connection with a number of highly trained naval officers who attended the famous See lectures. Einstein is said to have committed some mathematical faux pas, incipiently, that even an 8th grade pupil would be ashamed to be guilty of. Captain See's findings were duly published in the Kieler Astronomische Nachrichten, only magazine printed in three languages. As may be presumed, the great Doilies of Mendacity, having once eulogized our Communism-addicted Professor Einstein as the newest and greatest world-wonder, did shine conspicuously by every and all absence of any correction. See received not one word of mention; while Einstein was permitted to retain his doubtful halo, albeit it was now a badly battered one, lacklustre and askew. To have told the plain truth would have been a deadly affront in the eyes of a billion dollar advertising fund of "a race that has done so much to improve the culture of these countries (Germany etc) and our own" according to a certain Acceptance Speech made recently at Elwood, Indiana.

Participator in 1927 with numerous Communists in the conference in Brussels which formed the League against Imperialism, listed by the British Labour Party as a Communist subsidiary; and also mixed up with other bodies of similar character, Einstein issued the following Manifesto, published by the Torchbearer (New History Society, N. Y.) 1931:

"I should unconditionally refuse every direct or indirect war service and try to induce my friends to take the same stand, and this independently of any critical opinion of the causes of the war."

The slacker pledge required for enrollment in the War Resisters League, of which Einstein became honorary chairman in Feb. 1933, is:

"I declare it to be my intention never to take part in war, offensive or defensive, international or civil, whether it be by bearing arms, making or handling munitions, voluntarily subscribing to war loans, or using my labor for the purpose of setting others free for war service."

"During the administration of the oath, says the AP report of Oct. 1st., from Trenton, N. J., Einstein sat at the head of a class of 88 new citizens . . . toyed with a fountain pen during the ceremony . . . wore a dark blue-gray suit, purple necktie and brown moccasin-type shoes." And the Judge said: "his presence here becomes America's gain".

Pointing out that he himself was the son of Immigrant Jewish parents, Judge Forman added "in a spirit of humble gratitude":

"I am deeply cognizant that only in America would it be possible for me to occupy the position which I do as the representative of my country . . . You will observe that Einstein is admitted to citizenship here in the same democratic method as all the others, but the simplicity of these ceremonies is characteristic only of that which is America . . . Because of his race he was forced to flee from his native land etc etc."

Because of his race? No! Because of his Communism. For Germany it had become a question of going under completely-like poor Russia did—or clean out the Communists, most of them Jews. Germany preferred to get rid of this terrible pest, and so it has become "America's gain!" Indeed, we are most honored. Under the date-line of 2-5-1934 we read: "Most honored guests at the White House last week were Herr Doktor and Frau Albert Einstein. They dined and spent the night, visited the President's office to see the ship prints etc."—

While toying with his pen, we wonder what went on in the great scientific mind; how he could square his oath with his Communistic credo. Perhaps he thought of a certain passage in Pesachim:

"When you go to war do not go as the first, but as the last, so that you may return as the first . . . love each other, love the robbery, hate your masters and never tell the truth."

Perhaps he remembered an other equally poignant command, from Schulchan Aruch:

"A Jew is permitted to rape, cheat and perjure himself; but he must take care that he is not found out, so that Israel may not suffer."

Now to demolish a part of the Judge's Wailing Wall:

Though the Jewish population B. E. (before the Exodus) was 1% of the whole, yet what do we find?

Lawyers and Judges in Berlin, 54%; of nine other leading cities 40%. Medical profession, Berlin 52%; welfare doctors 68%; other cities 31%; medical faculty, 50%; hospital directors 45%. Theatres 75%. Stock Exchange: 116 Jews, 31 Germans. Newspapers and great publishing houses almost all Jewish. Films and Music the same.

A. H. (after Hitler) the German is once again Master in his own house—he no longer has to seek the Jew to obtain his promotion, be it in the legal or any other field—and all that notwithstanding, Arthur Brisbane's baneful prognostication, of what dire consquences woud befall those stupid Germans. But then—what is their loss is "America's Gain". Maybe—Yes; maybe—No? We shall leave it to Jus Divinum —The Divine Law!

By Charles H. Ingersoll
(Of Dollar Watch Fame)

PHILADELPHIA, (Radio Broadcast),—

When I see the kind of people who are hurrying up our next war, I am inclined to join the Communists, for they at least are not individually or consciously doing that; and they seem to be about the only folks who are not.

Ingersoll

Our politicians, our aristocrats, our big business men, our ministers, and our stand-pat G. O. P. bourbons all seem to be trying to beat each other to war. Communists officially, led by Moscow, may have deserted pacifism, but I doubt if collectivists generally have. And, by the way, will Dies keep after Communists if they are patriots, warwise?

Mothers of America may soon expect a propaganda for raising a generation of toughs as the only efficient cannon fodder. That's how Hitler has succeeded, and we are out to beat him, aren't we? And really if we have adopted the barbarian universal military service, our youth will be better balanced if they are culturally adjusted to the new way of life. They will be more happy and content the rougher they are.

Geo. S. Counts and Walter Lippman, who will be called ace intellectual leaders of education and journalism, are dividing the job of discovering what now is our greatest national weakness.

One Vaghts from the military quarter has charged, and Prof. Counts, on behalf of his Teachers College, admits that our cardinal fault is psychological and educational unpreparedness and optismism. And so these three sink themselves in a sea of meaningless words. For example—'The young men of our generation have been deprived of their birthright!'

Here is the starting point for the real answer, because that birthright is the earth itself instead of the nonsense of 'historic consciousness'. And, what's more vital, these youth are having half their earnings taken from them every day. And the excess of optimism in our teachers' teaching is, in fact, the pessimism of economic illiteracy, which keeps in hiding these simple facts of monopolistic exploitation that are the obvious cause of poverty and war.

Sonja Tomara, whose letters from different war-swept countries of Europe millions have read, now undertakes to account for France's collapse, and, on the side, to do a good turn for Candidate Willkie, by clothing him with prophetic philosophy. This seems to be the composite idea:—

While New Dealism is standardizing self conscious depreciation—a sort of WPA complex—we still advocate conscription, self sacrifice, and emergency dictatorship. And while peace is our first word always, we account for French failure in the people's peace ideals; and our most telling argument for warlike measures, starting with conscription, is pointing to our remnant of pacifism as our great danger! And finally, we want to raise a new generation of hard boiled youth, copying Hitler and his successful war methods!

Fletcher's $600,000 Water Steal

and Ed Jr. is the chief puller-in.

Cuyamaca Water "Rights"

Then there were all those Mattoon Act Districts which cost the County and the bondholders, first and last, over ten million dollars. But they never cost Ed Fletcher anything. The victims may have committed suicide or gone on the County, or just moved away, but Ed Fletcher keeps the home fires burning. Take the sale of Cuyamaca to the Spring Valley Water District. Just what did they buy—anything? And that brings up one of the most unconscionable hold-ups ever attempted on San Diego. Because it succeeded only partially was not Ed Fletcher's fault. Our city attorney, T. B. Cosgrove, was just too smart for him. Fletcher, by using the masquerade of the Cuyamaca Water Company—just another name for the Fletchers, tried to get an immense sum from the city back in 1929 or 1930. I do not have the Court Record at hand but I think the amount asked for a water right which he did not own, was two million dollars. The Superior Court awarded Fletcher and his fellow patriots $600,000.00. That is fact. But in the meanwhile our city attorneys and especially T. B. Cosgrove, had brought a suit in another Court.

Cosgrove maintained, and the highest Courts of the land sustained him, that neither Fletcher nor any other man had the slightest right to the water in the San Diego river-shed. Up to the highest mountain peak every drop of water destined for the San Diego river belonged to the people of San Diego, to the City of San Diego, and to no one else. That was plain enough. Fletcher and his $600,00.00 claim was as deflated as a pricked balloon. Of course, he did not give up without a struggle. There were appeals and pleas for stays, with his noble fellow San Diegans, Crouch and Sloan, helping him valiantly. Of course, it was a typical Fletcher case, but they had fought and won for him in more dubious encounters and perhaps they thought that the Supreme Court might have a slack day when something might be put over. However, the Supreme Court was alert and Ed Fletcher had to get something for his time and trouble. There was here then, and still is, a water development program. Worked out and carried out by as distinguished and able a set of engineers any city has had the good fortune to employ, there has been a steady accumulation of a water surplus. Ever since the floods of 1916, when San Diego's lakes were immobilized by the bursting of Otay Dam and we were destitute for water amidst impassable roads and broken distributing systems, we have made considerable progress.

So the city attorneys, through the years, and against every sort of legal obstacle and illegal chicanery, developed and perfected their case of our paramount right to all of the San Diego River water. And our engineers considered various damsites to store those waters, once we have driven off the jackals. Ultimately the highest courts affirmed our rights and we were ready to begin building dams to store that water.

There were experts, and then other experts, each with cogent reasons for their favorite damsites. Fletcher's attorney, Charles C. Crouch, was one of the most expert of all. It was his considered conclusion that no damsite was worth building on except the one known as El Capitan No. 3. It was only a coincidence that the Cuyamaca Water Company owned 252 acres at that identical place.

Because the city eventually bought that land, that jackrabbit paradise, for $40,000.00, a brief description of it is in order. You know 240 acres is roughly, a tract three-fourths of a mile long and half a mile wide. In the center of San Diego, such a piece would be worth millions. In the desert it would not be worth a piece of an old hat. So Fletcher himself thought up to the time he came to sell it to the dear people of San Diego. It was valued by him then, at less than a thousand dollars.

There were other damsites near there, El Capitan No. 1 and El Capitan No. 2. Competent engineers declared under oath that the city could do much better to have used one of them. They declared we could have got a better dam, a cheaper dam, and a power producing dam. In other words, for less money we would have got more value. But that was not to be. Fletcher and his partners have never been noted for kind hearts, public conscience, nor public spirit. Nearly all his partners are members of his family anyway. "One for all and all for the Fletchers"; in this case the Cuyamaca Water Company $40,000.00 was a prize worth striving for. The Mattoon Districts were petering out. Law suits were piling up, and they needed the money. The old standbys rallied to their defense. After a lot of hooray Fletcher's property was decided on as the only logical place for a dam. But—and it was a big but—the people of San Diego did not know of the plot brewing or that Fletcher was about to be handed $40,000.00, $160.00 an acre. The deal must be kept dark.

The Truth About the Talmud

and sees far into the future for hundreds of generations to come. This knowledge of the destiny and my faith in God, coupled with the practical realization that I am immortal as an entity and will yet return many a time to this planet to finish my work in accordance with divine designs for which mankind lives here on earth, makes me immune to fear, hatred or defeatism born of ignorance.

I have persistently held that we need not resort to discriminatory legislation to force proportional representation of Jews so that they may not hold more key positions in public life than they are entitled to on a numerical basis; & I contend that it is not necessary to resort to violent reprisals against Jewish abuses of power and influence. My path is that of presenting the truth in the matter and letting it do its own natural work according to Christ's teachings: "You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

I have been warned by the radical anti-semites that the Jews themselves will not permit the Christian method of evolutionary education which brings out the truth, because the Jews cannot stand the truth anymore today than they could in Jesus' time. I have been forewarned that they will take repressive measures to suppress the truth in speech and in press the moment they have sufficient power to do so.

To realize why the whole world is becoming a seething cauldron with the Jew the "innocent, persecuted" race, one has merely to turn to the religious lawbooks of orthodox Jewry. The Talmud is their supreme authority and is replete with passages of this nature:

Schulchan Aruch, Chosen Hemispat 348: "All property of other nations belongs to the Jewish nation, which consequently is entitled to seize upon it without any scruples. An orthodox Jew is not bound to observe principles of morality towards people of other tribes. He may act contrary to morality if profitable to himself or to Jews in general".

The most precious gift of the American Republic is the freedom of telling the truth about the "Religion" of those who preach race discrimination and teach immoral conduct in dealings with non-Jews. AS THE JEWS resort to suppressive methods, then it becomes a crusade and the truth will prevail against them and it shall rise again as the crucified Christ arose to confound them and triumph over their criminal machinations.

PUNK LIBRARY SERVICE

Editor, The Broom:

It is confusing to find some publications in the main public library. The following have been put behind or under the counter, and out of reach, subject to call only: "American Guardian, The Broom, S. D. Herald, S. F. Leader, S. F. Peoples Daily World, N. Y. Socialist Appeal, D. C. Labor, N. Y. New Leader, Ham & Eggs and the Townsend Weekly.

The personnel give no reason save to say, "it was ordered". Perhaps it was done as a feeler or to spread the ideas of scarcity to win support for the librarians constant campaign for money for more acquisitions.

Three times as many paid for donations of periodicals have been tested similarly, and which implies as phony the frequent appeals for "gift" literature, provided the stuff is sold for junk or sent to Zulus.

Citizens should protest against all this jugglery. They pay for service, and not for executive whimsy. Even the yearly reports to the city council and city manager have been kept in seclusion in the librarian's private office, for seven years, and not one of the staff dares to enter for the reports when the principal is out, which is often and of course, rightly.

No wonder the library is criticized, and the employees have to bear the brunt of caustic faultfinding. An ever pervading feeling of constraint is upon them, and the public unjustly calls them pickle-pusses.

Any executive who only is IN but not OF the rank and file and does not fraternize can not get good results. Amiable words, approving looks and cheerful attitudes to all by the chief pay dividends.

KUNZE, 9 BUNDSMEN INDICTED FOR 'PROMOTING HATRED OF JEWS'

NEWTON, N. J.,—Wilhelm Kunze, national leader of the German-American Bund, and nine others were indicted on charges of "promoting hatred against people of the Jewish religion."

The Sussex county grand jury, in session about eight miles from the Bund's Camp Nordland, at Andover, returned to Judge John Losey true bills which attributed to the defendants speeches including the following passages.

"The real fifth column in this country is Roosevelt and his Jewish bosses . . .

"This country was founded on Irish muscle and German brain; the Jews did nothing but have everything . . .

"Before Rosenfelt can move, Hitler will be lunching in Buckingham palace . . .

"There are 30,000,000 of us in this country, all Aryans."

The indictments, handed up by a jury composed of 16 rural businessmen and eight housewives, climaxed an investigation conducted by Sheriff Denton J. Quick of activities at Camp Nordland. Judge Losey set Oct. 18 for pleas.

HITLER'S POWER.—"Nazism is not a cause. It is an effect. It and its fellow tyrannies were conceived and born in poverty and unemployment and they derive their vigour from them. An English writer truly said recently; 'As the numbers of the unemployed (in Germany) soared, so did the Nazi vote; so did the numbers of Roehm's storm troops.'—Porcupine, London.
